ICCX West Africa hits the nerve of the concrete industry

In April 2023, the organisers of the ICCX event series celebrated their debut in the West African region. The first ICCX West Africa impressed not only the organisers themselves. The more than 600 trade visitors from over 380 different companies from the concrete construction sector were enthusiastic about the concept of an international trade fair and conference, which is new for this region. Experts from all over the world had come together to exchange information about the latest technologies and trends in the concrete industry. Numerous partners and sponsors made the inaugural event a great success, which is now to be continued.

The second ICCX West Africa will again take place at the Grand Arena in Accra, Ghana, on 16 and 17 April 2024. A trade exhibition with more than 50 national and international companies from the cement, concrete and precast concrete industry will once again present the perfect opportunity to expand the professional network and create important contacts in 2024.
